MONDAY, JANUARY 26, 1741.

our laſt arriv'd the Three Mails due from Holland.

Peterſbourg, Jan. 3.

HE Princeſs Regent was not well for a few Days paſt, being, as 'tis ſaid, again with Child, but now ſhe is better. She went on the 26th ult. with ſome of her Court, to viſit the Velt-Marſhal de Munich, who was better that Day, but had a Relapſe on the 29th, and ſtill keeps his ber. The Duke of Courland is dangerouſly ill at ſſle of Schlieſſelbourg, and is often light headed; appeared by ſeveral of his Anſwers to the Com- ners appointed to examine him; who having de- d of him a clear and exact Account of certain s he had written out of the Country, and of which ound the rough Draughts among his Papers, his rs were quite foreign to the Queſtion. His Daugh- likewiſe out of Order. On the 21ſt ult. Seven s of the Guards whom the Duke had caſhier'd nfin'd, being ſet at Liberty, were by the Great ſs reſtor'd to their Poſts. The Commiſſioners ave been at Nerva to examine the General Biſ- heretofore Governor of Riga, have made a Re at he was privy to all the Duke of Courland's es, and had been guilty of groſs Prevarication. ount d'Oſterman, who notwithſtanding his great in perfect Health, confers with the Foreign rs during Count Munich's Indiſpoſition.

Princeſs Elizabeth Petrowna continues here in e Situation, eſteem'd, reſpected, and honour'd, ng to her high Birth, but does not meddle or with Affairs; and on the 28th and 29th ſhe was mented by the Miniſters and the chief Nobility r Birth-day. The Corpſe of the late Czarina terr'd this Day with great Solemnity, in St. Peter ul's Cathedral, at which Ceremony the Princeſs the Princeſs Elizabeth, and all the Miniſters and Officers of the Empire attended, and there was a Diſcharge of the Cannon of the Fortreſs and miralty. Tho' the Court only deſires to live ce with its Neighbours, and tho' the Forces al- n Livonia, Ingermanland, and Carelia, are not n 100000 Men, yet there's a Talk of augment- m. At the ſame Time the neceſſary Prepara- re making in our Harbours, to put a ſtrong Fleet next Summer, tho' there is a perfect Tranquility hout the Empire, and not the leaſt uneaſy Mur- be heard. As for the crazy Duke of Courland, iev'd that he will be ſtripp'd of his Titles and Dig- and then baniſh'd for his Life to ſome Part of mpire, where he will have a Subſiſtence.

kholm, Jan. 3. 'The Dyet has lately been idering what Perſons to appoint for the Secret mittee, who are to take Cognizance of all Affairs eace or War, Treaties and Alliances with Foreign ers, and to enquire into Negociations, and Mat- thereon depending. Colonel Trolle, who was 'd by ſome other Members, demanded that the Committee ſhould not have Leave to form any olution for declaring War, or ſettling the Plans of without taking the Advice of the Aſſembly of the s; upon which Motion there were ſeveral Den the 31ſt ult. a ſealed Liſt was opened and read e ſaid Aſſembly, containing the Names of all Members of that Committee, who are 9 Counts, rons, and 32 Gentlemen; who being ſworn the Day, ſat Yeſterday for the firſt Time: And the Dyet adjourn'd for the Holidays.

'e are aſſur'd that theſe are the chief Points which Secret Committee is to conſider of; viz. To en- into the Reſolutions fit to be taken with regard to the irs of Ruſſia, ſo as may be moſt expedient for pro- g the Honour and Intereſt of the Crown, and the y of the Nation. To conſider alſo what Treaties and ances are neceſſary to be confirm'd, and what new to be concluded; and finally to determine what are ropereſt Methods for attaini g to the End which is n'd by ſummoning this extraordinary Dyet. There nother important Point which is to come under Conſideration of this Committee; but this is kept ſecret for publick Intelligence. Mean time all Foreign Miniſters here ſeem at this inſtant to be buſy. The Count de St. Severin, the French Ambaſſador, has receiv'd an Expreſs from Paris, and another from the Marquis de la Chetardie at Peterſbourg. The Ruſſian Miniſter has alſo receiv'd important Diſpatches from his Court; and M. Antivari, who takes care of the Queen of Hungary's Affairs here, has receiv'd Advice from Vienna of the King of Pruſſia's extraordinary Enterprize in Sileſia. Mr. Stanhope, Son to my Lord Harrington, ſet out Yeſterday for Copenhagen, whither we are aſſur'd he goes with a Commiſſion. The King's Troops quarter'd in Finland are in a very good Condition, and for theſe two Years that they have been in that Duchy, 'tis believ'd that fifty Men have not deſerted. There is great Talk here of re-aſſerting certain Claims by the Crown of Sweden to the Duchy of Courland; a Piece having been publiſh'd about two Years ago, wherein thoſe Claims are ſpecify'd at large.

Vienna, Jan. 4. N. S. M. de Kircheyſen, Secretary at War to the King of Pruſſia, being return'd hither from Sileſia, the Pruſſian Miniſters, the Count de Gotter and the Baron de Borck, waited on the Great Duke of Tuſcany with the Anſwer which he brought from his Majeſty; who they ſay therein declares, That it was not poſſible for him to make any Alteration in the Reſolutions he had taken; but that he was ſtill ready to accommodate Matters with the Queen, and to give her Proofs of his Friendſhip. Some Conferences being thereupon held between the Queen's Miniſters, it was therein obſerv'd, That even tho' the King of Pruſſia ſhould be contented with a Part of Sileſia, the Queen could not make it over to him; becauſe that Duchy is a Feoffment of Truſt, which her Majeſty cannot alienate, either in whole or in part, to the Prejudice of her Children, or of the Archduchеſs her Siſter: And the Great Duke has alſo had a particular Conference at his Houſe with Mr. Robinſon the Britiſh Miniſter, and the Dutch Envoy Extraordinary the Baron de Burmania. It has been ſince reported, that if the King of Pruſſia will refer the Matter to the Deciſion of the Maritime Powers, the Queen is ready to do the ſame; but certain Circumſtances make it apprehended, that the Methods of Negociation will not be ſo ſoon employ'd, eſpecially conſidering the Orders given to 5 Regiments to be ready to march, and join our other Forces already moving towards Sileſia. Prince Lubomirski, the Palatine of Cracow, who is an extraordinary Friend to the Intereſts of the Houſe of Auſtria, has offer'd to raiſe 6 or 7000 Men in his Territories for the Queen's Service. Several Noblemen and Gentlemen of the Roman Catholick Religion are retir'd from Sileſia, ſince the Arrival of the Pruſſian Troops in that Duchy.

Vienna, Jan. 7. N. S. 'Tis certain that the Pruſſian Miniſters here leave no Stone unturn'd to engage the Queen to make over the Duchy of Sileſia to their Maſter, who 'tis ſaid offers her Majeſty ſome Millions of Rixdollars and ſtrenuouſly to ſupport her Intereſts and thoſe of the Great Duke. The Electors of Mentz and Triers have acknowledged all the Rights of the Queen, as well as that of transferring her Suffrage for the Kingdom of Bohemia to the Duke of Tuſcany. M. Vincent, who manages the Affairs of the French Court here, had a private Audience a day or two ago of the Great Duke of Tuſcany, wherein he declar'd in his Maſter's Name, That his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty would employ his good Offices with the King of Pruſſia to engage his Pruſſian Majeſty to withdraw his Forces from Sileſia, and that if needs muſt, he will make uſe of other more effectual Methods. And we are aſſured, that the Miniſters of the Maritime Powers have made the ſame Offers to this Court.

Vienna, Jan. 11. N. S. 'Tis ſaid this Court has rejected the Propoſals of Accommodation made on the part of the King of Pruſſia, whoſe Forces are already advanced to the Principality of Teſchen; and upon this, Orders are ſent to our Troops to march that way with all poſſible Diligence.

Vienna, Jan. 14. N. S. The Pruſſian Miniſters would have been gone from hence by this time if they had not been both indiſpoſed, eſpecially the Count de Gotter, whoſe Illneſs is very dangerous. Mean time the Preparations for War are carried on with the utmoſt Vigour, but the Forces marching to Sileſia have been obliged to change their Rout becauſe of the Badneſs of the Roads. The Court has received agreeable Diſpatches from Dreſden and Petersbourg.

Ratisbon, Jan. 16. We have here the Queen of Hungary's Letter to the States of the Empire, wherein ſhe declares 'That the Emperor was no ſooner dead but 'the King of Pruſſia promiſed he would maintain her 'in the peaceable Poſſeſſion of the Hereditary Countries, 'and defend her againſt all Attacks; that he deſired 'nothing more than to live in a perfect Union with her, 'and that he would ſupport the Great Duke her Huſ- 'band in all his Intereſts; that notwithſtanding all theſe 'Promiſes his Pruſſian Majeſty had enter'd Sileſia in an 'hoſtile Manner and made a Demand of that Duchy, 'or that otherwiſe he would join with thoſe who are 'for dividing the Hereditary Dominions by a Treaty of 'Partition, and have promiſed him conſiderable Ad- 'vantages, &c. But the Queen hopes that the States of 'the Empire will give her the needful Aſſiſtance againſt 'Pruſſia conformably to the Guaranty of the ſaid Do- 'minions,' &c.

We have here alſo the King of Pruſſia's Letter to the States of the Empire on the ſame Subject, wherein he declares, 'That his Troops are not entered into Si- 'leſia with any ill Intention, but only to ſecure from 'imminent Danger his inconteſtable Rights to that Du- 'chy, which cannot be changed by any Diſpoſition 'whatſoever; that he will do his utmoſt to maintain 'the Conſtitutions of the Empire; and he proteſts be- 'fore God that he has no Deſign to prejudice the Houſe 'of Auſtria in any thing, of which he will give ſuch 'Proofs as ſhall convince all the World.' &c.

Hambourg, Jan. 20, N. S. Never did the Princes of the Empire and particularly the Electors ſend ſo many Miniſters and Couriers to one another as they do at this Juncture, with a View in all Appearance to avert the Troubles with which all Germany is threaten'd. The Queen of Hungary has not only writ to the States of the Empire but alſo to the Foreign Powers, to complain of the King of Pruſſia's Enterprize; and her Majeſty has declar'd, that ſhe can admit of no Propoſal of Accommodation till he has withdrawn his Troops from Sileſia. An Expreſs went thro' here t'other day from Hanover for Copenhagen, with Diſpatches which they ſay relate to the March of the 6000 Danes that are in Britiſh Pay, in order to join a Body of 18000 Hanoverians and therewith to form a Camp towards the Elbe and the Weſer near Erchsfeldt, where they are to be reinforced by 8000 Heſſians. Some Troops of Saxe Gotha are alſo to aſſemble towards Mulhauſen. So that in all Probability theſe Forces are to be a Part of that Army of Obſervation which ſeveral Princes of the Empire have reſolv'd to have on foot.

Berlin, Jan. 21. N. S. A Confirmation is arrived here of the taking of Ottmachaw by the Pruſſians: It is a ſmall Caſtle ſituate near the River Neiſs. The Gariſon, conſiſting of five incomplete Companies of Grenadiers, in all about 250 Men, were made Priſoners after a Reſiſtance of 24 Hours. In this Affair the Pruſſians had a Major of Engineers and 12 private Men killed, according to ſome Letters; but others make the Loſs amount to 50 Men. There has likewiſe been a Skirmiſh between the Pruſſian Huſſars and Prince Lichtenſtein's Regiment of Dragoons near Ottmachaw, in which the former were drawn into an Ambuſcade; the Lieutenant who commanded them, and ſeveral Huſſars, were cut to pieces. After the Action, the Auſtrian Dragoons ſeeing a ſuperior Body advancing againſt them, retired to the other Side of the Neiſs. At Olau there were 150 Men, but they ſurrendred the Place on condition that they ſhould be conducted to Brieg, which was done accordingly. When Felt-Marſhal Schwerin ſummoned Ottmachaw to ſurrender, his Aide de Camp, who was charged with that Commiſſion, having advanced too near the Place before he beat a Parley, the Garriſon fired upon him and killed his Drummer, the Aide de Camp himſelf having a narrow Eſcape, his Horſe having been ſhot under him. On Thurſday laſt Orders came to Major-General Count Trouchſes's Regiment, quartered in this Town, to march forthwith towards Sileſia, and accordingly they are to ſet out Tomorrow. It is ſuppoſed other Regiments have received the like Orders; all Advices agreeing, that the Body of Auſtrian Troops on the other Side the River Neiſs grows daily more conſiderable by the Arrival of Regiments from Hungary, Moravia, and Bohemia.

A Deduction is publiſh'd here of the Rights of the Royal and Electoral Family of Pruſſia and Brandenbourg to the Duchies and Principalities of Jagerſdorf, Lignitz, Brieg, Wolaw, and the Lordſhips thereon depending in Sileſia; wherein 'tis declar'd, 'That the Houſe 'of Auſtria ſufficiently recovered thoſe Rights of the Houſe of Brandenbourg, becauſe it offer'd conſiderable Sums to engage the latter to give them up; and that a Zeal for Religion having been the moſt powerful Motive by which the Houſe of Auſtria was acted, the very ſame Motive ought to engage that of Brandenbourg to intereſt itſelf in favour of the Proteſtants, &c.'

SCOTLAND.

Edinburgh, Jan. 20. A young Gentleman of the Town of Leith writes from on board the Griffin of London, Capt. John Sutherland, of the 13th of November then at St. Kit's, that they were juſt arrived from the Guiney Coaſt, after an indifferent Paſſage, in which 40 valuable Slaves had died. He adds, that on the 11th they had the higheſt Pleaſure to ſee a ſmall Sloop tow into Port, it's a large Spaniſh Brigantine, with 70 Hands on board, beſides what had been killed in the Action, which happened four Days before about 25 Leagues off, between the Sloop and Brigantine. The Sloop had ſail'd from hence three Weeks before, very poorly ſtock'd with Proviſions, and mann'd (if we may uſe the Word) with 27 young Lads, (moſtly his School-fellows in the Port of Edinburgh, Leith, &c.) under the Management of an old Trojan of a Tar. Early in the Morning of the 4th of November they ſaw the Brig a-head of them; and being aſſured by the old Padrone that ſhe was a Spaniard, they made a furious Onſet; and tho' the Spaniards fired ſeveral great and ſmall Shot aboard the Sloop, yet the bold young Fellows, deſpiſing the Spaniſh Menaces, after a full Diſcharge of their Muſquetry, boarded and took the Brigantine, and after ſecuring the Hatches below Hatches, they ſat down to Breakfaſt, and found among them 30,000 Spaniſh Dollars, Part of the Brig's Cargo.

COUNTRY NEWS.

Briſtol, Jan 24. Tueſday laſt this City was alarm'd with the Noiſe of a Murder being committed by Samuel Vernier, Eſq; Commander of the Ruby Man of War, then at Anchor in King-Road, on the Body of his own Father Sir John Dinely Goodier, Bart. of Charleton, in the Seat of that Family near Eveſham in Worceſterſhire, a Gentleman of an Eſtate of 3000 l. per Ann. and both Sons of the late Sir Edward Goodier, Bart. The Circumſtances of this moſt ſhocking Scene are as follow: It ſeems the Day before the Fact was committed, Sir John and his Brother were together at a Gentleman's in College Green, and parted with each other in kind and brotherly Salutes; but when Sir John came near the College Green Coffee-houſe, a Body of Men (ſome belonging to the Ruby, and others to the Vernon Privateer) ruſhed upon him, and bore him down with the utmoſt Violence to a Boat provided for the Reception near the Hot Well; and Sir John making the Houſe, the Enquiry of the People as they hurry'd him along (he loudly crying out Murder! Murder!) was anſwered by the Ruffians telling them, He was mad, and a Thief, and a Murderer; and ſo convey'd him down the River, while his Brother ſtopp'd his Mouth, and muffled him with his Scarlet Cloak, in order to deaden the Cry of Murder which Sir John ſtill made. About Seven, Saturday Evening, they put him on board the Ruby, when the Captain bid the Men not to mind his Cries, for he was a mad Man, and ſo convey'd him into the Purſer's Cabin. When he was thus ſecur'd, the Captain ſent for Matthew Mahony (an Iriſh Papiſt) into the Great Cabin, and gave him a Dram, telling him That he muſt murder his Brother, for that he was mad, and ſhould not live till Four in the Morning; and adviſed with him to pick out a Comrade, and he ſhould reward them handſomely: That as the Ship was to ſail in a Day or two, he would take a convenient Opportunity to convey the Body over-board, and ſend the Account of his Natural Death to his Friends; that if he could get no other Aſſiſtance, he himſelf would help: But they ſoon prevail'd on one Charles Leary, another Iriſhman, to undertake the diſmal Scene, under the Direction of their Commander, and (in cold Blood) choak'd him with their Hands, compleating his Death with a Cord, after 30 Minutes Struggle, during which their Captain ſtood Centry with a drawn Cutlas; and after the Murder was compleated carry'd in a Candle, and feeling the Body of his Brother, ſaid, His Buſineſs is done. The Ruffians were put on Shore, but are ſince taken, and, together with their Captain, are committed to Newgate, and all heavily iron'd, the Coroner's Jury (who ſat on the Body on Board the Man of War, ſhe riding at Anchor within the Liberties of our City, which extend ſo far as the Flat Holms) having found all Three guilty of Wilful Murder.

This unparallel'd Scene of Barbarity (according to Mahony's voluntary Confeſſion) was concerted between him and the Captain ſome Time before; and in all Probability the Death of Sir John had been before compleated by this bloody-minded Papiſt, had he had a convenient Opportunity. So little Effect had his Cruelty upon him, that whilſt his Irons were putting on, he ſaid, he did not care if he was to be hang'd Tomorrow, provided he could have a Prieſt to give him Abſolution.—— Such are the Errors of the Church of Rome.

This unhappy Affair was firſt diſcovered by the Cooper of the Ruby, who perceived the Ruffian in action thro' a Crevice of his Cabbin, by help of the Light carried into the Purſer's Cabbin by the Captain when he went to ſee if "the Buſineſs was done," and by Stratagem ſeized the Captain, in conjunction with the Lieutenant and ſeveral ſtout Men of the Ship, and delivered him into the Power of the Civil Magiſtrates, whoſe Authority is very great and extenſive, and whoſe Lenity and mild Adminiſtration gain them the greateſt Eſteem among the People of this opulent City.

Yeſterday about Five in the Evening the Keeper of Newgate fortunately diſcovered under the Coat of the Captain's Man, as he was about to whiſper to his Maſter, two fire-new Cuttoes, which the Keeper took from him. And upon ſearching him farther, found in his Pocket three Razors, which he alſo took from him. This occaſions various Conjectures, but what Deſign was on foot is not known.

Norwich, Jan. 24. Laſt Week a very odd Accident happened at the Queen's-head at Hetherſett, about four Miles from this City, after the following Manner, viz. Some Perſons being drinking there, among whom was a Chimney-ſweeper who liv'd at Wymondham, and the Converſation turning upon Ghoſts or Apparitions, the Chimney-ſweeper thought on a Method that might frighten the reſt of the Company; accordingly he withdrew, went up a Chimney in another Room, and deſign'd to come down that Chimney in which all the Company were then drinking; but driving the Soot down before him, it took fire, and fired his Cloaths, ſo that he was forced to return back to the Chimney he went up; which alſo taking fire from his Cloaths as he went down it, he was ſcorched in ſo miſerable a Manner that the Skin of his Hands came off like Gloves, and he died while a Surgeon was dreſſing him.

Worceſter, Jan. 22. They write from Coventry, that on Thurſday laſt, as old Farmer Drake was going home from that City, he was robb'd of about 4l. and almoſt murder'd by three young Ruffians; one of whom but 14, whoſe Cloathes were ſprinkled with the old Man's Blood, being taken up on Suſpicion, confeſs'd the Fact, and all three are committed to Coventry Jail.
